Among The Sports

Caught in the net!

One of our prominent citizens was caught in the net of stealing four flocks from the house of Mr. Shanks. The device, which Mr. Shanks had set that day, were hung outside the door. Shortly after dark the thief stealthily crept along the side of the building, and was in the act of taking the flocks, when Mr. and Mrs. Shanks, who had been warned by phone of the conspiracy, opened the door. In view of the hungry appearance of the culprit and the fact that he had a wife and family, Mr. Shanks decided not to prosecute. It came to light later that the investigator of the thief after his victim had left, reported of his part in the robbery and phoned Mr. Shanks to be on the look out, with the result that roost duck was eaten at the north end, instead of the south end of the town.

What The World Would Like To Know

In the Council of Sixty One in Russia sits one lone woman, a feminine oasis in a desert of masculinity: Shechenika Yaviva.

In the House of Representatives in the United States half way around the world sits one lone woman also forming a feminine oasis in a desert of masculinity: Jennette Rankin.

(In the Legislative Assembly in Alberta sits one lone woman also forming a feminine oasis in a desert of masculinity: Mrs. Louise McKinney.) Are they more scared than gold? more humble than proud? borne down or borne up by their responsibility in thus blazoning the trail for other women? If an X-ray could reveal their hearts' deepest feelings, wouldn't all the world lend a listening ear—judge.

To Automobile Drivers

How to keep automobile drivers from recklessly attempting to cross the track in front of an oncoming train is one of the problems just now in the process of solving by operating officials of all railways.

During the past six months, There have been several deaths in the West due directly to the fact that an automobile driver mis-calculated the distance of a railway train from the crossing and also mis-calculated the speed at which the train was running. There seems to be no law to stop this recklessness, and drivers don't seem to realize that it is fatal to try conclusions with a railway engine.

The number of accidents at country road crossings is growing, as well as those within the corporate limits of towns and villages, and how to stop it is something railway operating officials have not yet been able to answer. An engineer sees a motor car at a speed that he knows will make a collision if continued by the motor car. The railway engineer cannot stop. Absolute recklessness is all that can be called. Even if engines drivers put no value on their own lives, they might think of and become responsible for the lives of those riding with them.

Letter From France

The following letter was received by Mrs. Brading, widow of Private Brading, who was killed in action in April last. The letter is from the Leont, in charge of the company.

SOMMERVILLE FRANCE, May 20, 1917

Dear Sir: In reply to your letter of the 21st inst. regarding your son, Pte. J. H. Brading. This soldier has been in our machine gun section and on April 10th our battalion made a charge on the German trenches. During the charge Pte. Brading was wounded and spoke to L. Corporal S. Hampton on his way out to the dressing station. He stated that Pte. J. H. Smith, of the same crew as himself, was badly wounded, and that he (Brading) had got him into a dug out and found up his wounds. He seemed most anxious that assistance be given to his friend.

This was the last seen of your son by any of the company.

We much regret his loss as he was a good and brave soldier.

His unselfishness no doubt contributed to his death.

C. STEVENSON, Lieut., Commanding D. Coy.

And More To Come

Since the declaration of war against Germany, 1,300,000 young Americans have volunteered for United States army and navy service, according to official figures.

There may be disappointment about claims for exemption from conscription, but if any young man can get comfort out of these figures in volume, let's be welcome to it.

An Original Story

A western school teacher asked each boy in her class to write an original story on a subject of their own choosing. The following was written by a boy of 9, and was called:

"VICTOR HAS HIS OWN REWARD"

"A poor young man fell in love with the daughter of a rich lady who kept a candy shop. The young man could not marry the rich candy lady's daughter because he had not money enough to buy furniture. A wicked man offered to give the young man $25,000 if he would become a drunkard. The young man wanted the money very much, so he could marry the rich candy lady's daughter, but when he got to the saloon he found that the wicked man was a drunkard. I will not become a drunkard even for great riches." And as he turned round to go home he saw lying on the sidewalk a pocket-book containing a million dollars in gold. Then the young lady came to marry him. "They had a beautiful wedding and the next day they had twins."

"Southern Justice"

Orphaned, friendless and left penniless upon his own resources, Dave Anthony, a boy born and raised in the Cumberland Mountains, determined to secure an education. He descended into the valley and located in a small Kentucky town. Life opened to him and things straightway began to happen. Finally, it was this boy's good fortune to save residents of the community from the intrigue of a real estate "sharp" who had planned to "rope them in" on false pretenses for practically all the money the townsfolk had hoarded up. This is an out line of the plot revealed in the Blue bird photo play, "Southern Justice," to be exhibited at the Rex theatre on Friday and Saturday September 10 and 11 with Myrtle Gonzalez and George Hernandez playing the principal roles. In these days of intricate plots the simple tale above outlined might seem uninteresting, but the skill of Lynn F. Reynolds in revealing great human interest from the simple stories of real life may be depended upon to create an entertainment of superior excellence. In numerous Bluebirds gone before, Mr. Reynolds has made engaging entertainments out of plots that carried no problems and were always free of crime and villainy—"The Secret of the Swamp," "God's Crucible," "The End of the Rainbow" and other Bluebird offerings having been received with unbounded favor by devotees of the screen.

HOLSTEIN VETERAN

The most recent of Holstein cows in Western Canada to have qualified in the Canadian record of performance test is the aged cow Beldina Abbecker, owned by W. C. White, of Carmichael, Alta., producing 15,946 pounds of milk and 661 pounds of butter.

"The Neer Do Well" was a full house Friday night. It was good.

In 1915 and 1916, Manitoba lakes produced 48,000,000 pounds of fish, 15 per cent of which was exported to the United States. For 9,000,000 pounds of whitefish, the fishermen received on the average 5 cents a pound. In some Canadian cities Manitoba whitefish sells at 15 cents a pound or more. The Food Controller for Canada is arranging to reduce the wide margin between fishermen and consumers.

Four hundred thousand men of military age are still available in Canada for class one under the military service act, according to Major George I. Campbell, one of the chief recruiting officers of the department of militia. "I believe," he says, "that only one man in four between the ages of 20 and 34—those liable for service—will be called on by the first draft."

Away at the end of the deck she saw the man she wanted; he was standing in an unbecoming attitude. He had not even an overcoat, nor did he seem to mix one up.

She came up quietly towards him, reaching on now and again to the brass rails for support, as the boat began to lift and roll. She was obliged to let go the friendly rail and cross over to the sea-side to speak to him. As she came up he turned about and steadied her with a hand on her arm.

At the first sight of him she had quailed. When he touched her she shook as a branch shaken and strains in the cheeks of the tempter.

"You wish to go below," he said softly. "Can I help you?"

The rich, somewhat gleaming voice, the dark eyes with their yellowish whites, made her feel faint. She spoke almost in a whisper, holding on to the outer rail of the vessel.

"Sir," she said, "I am Miss Ferguson's maid. I do not wish you to have taken her away. I discovered it in time to overtake you. I heard you going to do me."

They had this end of the strain to the vessel sent a few more people hurrying below stairs.

He looked down at her, as though he would penetrate the disguise of her thick veil, and she was afraid. She did not know what she expected, whether a cold stare, or an explosion of wrath or the dangerous quietness she knew of old. It answered her quietly.

"Which I might drop you overboard and no one would care," he said. "What did you do it for, anyhow?"

"Because I love my young lady," he said. "I suppose you thought you were meeting my match. I heard you say there was no time. I had barely time to catch the boat. I heard the taxi rank that you had gone to the Charing Cross."

"You do love nothing since you came on board," he said.

"I fear I have not up to this," she said. "I take care you do not. I'll show you the minute I have any indication that you are being followed. They'll tell me and my young lady."

"You are much good to anybody by that time. I did see you at Silverdale," he said.

"Yes, the Squire engaged me to be Miss Ferguson's maid."

"Why the deuce don't you hit up that confounded veil?" he said.

"You would be shocked if I did. I am terribly devoted to the Squire, and though the manner is gentle, I am not a woman who can be easily deceived."

"You are just the least bit in the world like a woman I once knew," he said. "If I had told her to sit as you are sitting she'd have scratched my eyes out. I like three women so long as I can master them."

He went away smiling to himself, after he had said it, but in a little while he was back again.

"It is a pity you were born ugly," he said. "You have the suggestion of a handsome woman, but you are not. You carry your head well, however. You carry your head well, however. You carry your head well, however."

"The rain and the fog lifted as they cleared the French coast, and the brights of Bonifacio, crowned by the great Basilica of Our Lady, came into view. The boat steamed, and the passengers, from which came up, looking sickly and cold as they waited to land."

"You had better see to your young lady, Cooper said, coming to Mrs. Bartlett's side."

She got up obediently and went downstairs, following her to a little dining-keeper, her well-ventilated observation. He waited for her outside the cabin till she came out with Dolly. Then he took charge of them, with a condescending but respectful air, as if he were taking nothing at all of the anxiety he felt.

"You have other travellers to busy with the douane, he got them into a cab. It had been long to run again. The carriage had a leather hood, a couple of books, a hatbox, and a small bag. It was almost in darkness except for a sliver of light from the douane, which the rain fell in a cold trickle."

The driver whipped up his horse, and the wheels rattled over the cobbles. The caliche cracked and moved on. The travellers were busy with the douane, which the rain fell in a cold trickle."

At last the caliche stopped. They were outside a small building, which had a glimpse of a courtyard with high buildings all round it. Green wooden tables and chairs, and orange trees in tubs—the courtyard of a hotel.

"I am sorry it has been so miserable," Cooper said, handing Dolly. "The most ordinary in the world. His horse and carriage were in the courtyard of a hotel."

"You will be better for a while. This is much better than the place you were in," he said.

Prosperity of Western Canada Evicted Number of Motor Cars

During the first half of this year 10,000 automobile licenses have been issued in Alberta. This is twice as many as during the whole year of 1916, and is evidence of the prosperity of the Alberta farmer. The same conditions obtain throughout the West, and in its monthly bulletin for the Canadian Bank of Commerce makes special reference to this phase and to the general prospect of the West in the following terms:

"Generally speaking the Western farmer is, in many respects, in a much better position than hitherto to increase his production. Two years of high prices for his products have enabled him, even with a normal crop, to liquidate a substantial proportion of his liabilities and at the same time to buy improved farm machinery."

His prosperity is reflected in the demand for building materials, motor cars and other equipment. It is no doubt true that some extravagance is evidenced by the astonishing demand for motor cars, but it must be remembered that many of these cars will make for efficiency on the farm and economy both time and labor."

"In Saskatchewan 21,000 horses for motor cars were issued up to the beginning of May, and it is estimated by the department that the total could reach 30,000 before the end of the summer. In 1916 the number issued amounted to 15,000, and in 1915 to 9,000. This extraordinary increase has been accompanied by considerable activity in the business centres of the province. Two years ago empty dwellings were numerous in almost every city from the head of the lake to the Pacific coast."

There were so low that in some cases high priced property did not bring in sufficient revenue to pay taxes. Today houses are in general demand, rents are becoming normal and population is again increasing. This desirable change reflects activity with regard to the financial position of some municipalities and evidences general prosperity in the surrounding rural communities."

"Happily there does not appear to be any danger on the part of the business public to encourage real estate speculation. There has arisen, however, a natural demand for land among successful farmers and the number of promising immigrants on the look out for homesteads has also increased. Railways and land companies report more sales during the last two months than have taken place in the same length of time for many years. Altogether the outlook is promising and the high prices for farm products, on which the present prosperity depends, are likely to continue for some time after the war."

Women's True Mission

Sir J. Crichton Browne on Child-Rearing

"Employment of women away from home," says Sir J. Crichton Browne, is conducive to infant mortality and to delinquency of the surviving offspring in later life.

"The best ordered scheme for the maternal 'bosom' is the best for the child," he told the annual meeting of the Hospital Saturday Fund at the Mansion House.

He said that when the war was over a number of women would come doing men's work; but he hoped that a large majority of the married women at any rate—would be content to revert to pre-war conditions, and find their true mission in tending babies and in regulating and advising their homes."

Human milk was priceless, but it was not so in the eyes of the economic value if it remained at home. It was a great loss to the nation when it was sent to the front. In 1916 the total milk supply for a lactation period of nine months which would amount to 22,044 gallons a day, worth at 16s. 6d. a gallon 15,750 pounds a day, and 6,037,950 pounds a year."

To Eliminate Unprofitable Poultry The poultry advisory committee of the British board of agriculture, as a means of preventing unprofitable use of land in the United Kingdom, has recommended that all old stock cocks should be killed at once; that, with the exception of certain breeds selected for breeding stock, all hens hatched in 1915 or earlier, that go broody and show signs of moult, should be culled as well as any other birds that are not profitable; that they will not be profitable; that, as soon as possible, all 1917 hatched cockers not required for stock purposes in 1918 should be killed.

Good Advertising Plan

Government and C.P.R. Co-operate to Get Settlers to 700 British

Through its numerous ticket agents in every part of the United States and the many other offices who handle its business, the Canadian Pacific Railway alone last year gave over 19,000 tickets to farmers who settled down in Canada and this has helped to the Saskatchewan development of agriculture as a means of advertising the great advantages of this province from an agricultural point of view.

The pamphlet is now being prepared by the department and will be enclosed in the envelopes in which the railway companies place their tickets when they deliver them to the travellers. The pamphlet will be in the shape of a small booklet, about five inches in length and about four wide, containing as briefly as possible a description of the western parts of the country and in particular Saskatchewan and showing the advantages that this province offers for settlers and farmers.

It is pointed out that even if the person who the ticket is sold does not make use of the information contained in the booklet he will find in the envelope he may hand it to one of his friends or relatives who, through reading it may be induced to settle in this province. The booklet is being sent to be left where it is where it will be picked up and read and it will thus form one of the cheapest means of advertising the farming possibilities of the province of Saskatchewan.

The pamphlet or booklet is being prepared by the deputy minister of agriculture, P. H. Allen, and its preparation requires a great deal of careful editing as it must contain the largest amount possible of solid information which will make attractive reading in the smallest possible space—Saskatoon Star.

Bank Clerks Barefooted Berlin bank clerks have set an example in patriotic self-sacrifice. To aid the movement in economy in leather, the clerks discarded their shoes and wore barefooted sandals. They were seen on the principal streets as well as on the streets, saving their tender feet as much as possible.

Berlin's shoe stores are now selling wooden sandals, the only leather being used for girdles.

Send Interned Huns Home

6,000 Germans Will Be Traded for 700 British

About 700 British subjects will be exchanged for more than 6,000 Germans, according to authoritative information given to a Daily Mail representative in reference to the final agreement as to the exchange of interned civilians over forty-five years old.

The British civilians will come mostly from Ruhlheim, the Germans from Kucheloe, Alexandria Palace, and other large internment camps. The exchange is to begin at once, but practical questions of ship facilities will cause unavoidable delays.

The civilians (Both British and German) will be sent home in batches, according to transport arrangements, and the expense will be borne by each government, "debts" and "credits" to be made when peace is declared.

Each man will be repatriated from their own country against his wish. If he does not wish to return to his own country (as with it is believed, the case with many Germans now in custody in England, particularly those with British wives) he will remain in internment in addition to the 6,000 Germans whom we are to release, there will probably be a good many who are interested in the Dominions, notably Canada. The exchange arrangement applies to them as well.

"People should not draw rash conclusions," an official said, "from the great discrepancy between the number of Germans we are to release in exchange for our own men. The proportion corresponds fairly accurately to the much larger number of German civilians of all ages in our hands than Britons interned in Germany. We shall, of course, have a correspondingly larger number left on our hands. Besides the purely humanitarian aspect of the release of our men, just emerging from painful life, there is the doubly practical advantage of us having to feed 6,000 fewer Germans and imposing on the enemy at a moment least desirable to him, the burden of nourishing that extra number."

"I want to be honest, sir. I can't support your daughter, but I am afraid to tell her because she has set her heart on marrying me."

"Never mind. Do you hear. I can't support her either."—Life.

Sterling Value Fortifies Its Beauty

"Looks" alone never sold a good motor car. While the Gray Dort could hardly be improved for beauty, nor for a personality, a Fifth Ave. elegance, that make it welcome on exclusive thoroughfares anywhere—the man who wants service is the man for whom it was originally built. Its cylinders are cooled independently. It is the only car in its price-class carrying the Westinghouse electric system, clutch and brake are combined in a single foot pedal. The Gray Dort cranks off and runs as extra-heavy fenders and bumper are a sure proof; and in equipment it is complete to the last detail. Value like this makes the Gray Dort a reasonable means to the world for owning it.

The Russian Crisis

Russia is passing through critical times. The counter revolution by Korniloff is gaining ground and reports indicate that it will be successful. The surrender of Riga almost without a struggle, and the recent disastrous defeat amongst the Russian troops creates a suspicion that there are still traitors in high office in Russia. Korniloff is too rapid a sealer to hold the confidence of the intelligent classes of Russia. Should Korniloff gain the ascendancy, the probability is that the worst with Germany would be pushed with greater vigor than ever. Two years ago Korniloff was a prisoner in Austria. Disguised as a peasant he travelled hundreds of miles, crossed the Carpathians and escaped safely to Russian soil. He was the first commander of the revolutionary Russian army and it fell to his lot to smother the Russian Empire. Probably the best thing that could happen would be for Korniloff to step quietly aside, and let Korniloff as soon as possible control during the period of the war. Korniloff's services suit to our greatest value in the reconstruction period after the war.

Farmers, Miners and Railway Men Exempt

Exemption tribunals under the military service act have been pretty well located and the number, upwards of eleven hundred, apportioned as follows: Ontario 427, Quebec 300, Manitoba 98, Saskatchewan 57, Alberta 110, British Columbia 74, New Brunswick 47, Nova Scotia 91, Prince Edward Island 15, and the Yukon 2. When the exemption tribunals shall have been constituted and a considerable time will be required for details, a proclamation will be issued calling out the men of the first class to service.

As far as can be learned the regulations in regard to exemptions will be broad. The policy of the government now is to make it clear that agriculturalists, miners, fishermen, transportation workers and all others engaged in any essential industry are to be exempted from conscription.

French. Canadians of the East they betray the Dominion into the hands of a party that is sure to bring disaster and dishonor on her career as a nation fighting for freedom.

An election now is little short of a crime. It is not at all necessary or advisable under present conditions. Caution is the solution of our present problem and every effort should be made to bring it about.

There are exceptions to the rule even in Quebec. Three members of the one family are reported wounded in the same casualty list, a fourth is on sick leave in England and the fifth is in training in Valerite. They are of a French family named Long-champ.

Concerning the Dominion Franchise

Liberal party papers are severely criticising the Dominion Government for the expressed intention of disfranchising all aliens in Canada who, by birth, belong to countries that are now at war with Great Britain, even though they are nominally British subjects by naturalization.

In theory the contention of the Liberals is right. But in this instance we are dealing with a condition and not a theory. The supreme thought must be: What is best for Canada? Conditions are unusual and call for an unusual treatment. No one wants to see any section of the electorate deprived of the right to vote. The thing is not proposed from motives of hate or ill will. The Government has pledged the Dominion to "the last man and the last dollar," to help win this war. We are fighting with the allies to prevent our country from becoming a prize for the enemy. Our help lessens the danger. Therefore this is our war and we are fighting for our own freedom.

To their everlasting disgrace the Liberals, at the instigation of Quebec, are forcing the Government to hold an election. Bearing in mind the obligations of Canada in this war—both to the Imperial Government and our soldiers in the trenches—the Government is forced to make a choice of two evils. If they allow Germans and Austrians to vote it is a foregone conclusion that they will do all in their power to defeat the Government. If the Government is defeated and the Liberals gain power, it means an end to Canada's participation in the war, for Quebec is opposed to it and what Quebec says goes with the Liberals after this election. So, if the Government allows the foreign vote of the West to join forces with the disloyal

Frank Wall had an unpleasant walk from Mr. Shrover's farm last week owing to Tin Lizzie going dry. Frank was trying to run his ear on hot air.

Our sports should remember to get a license before going out shooting and to keep cool when they see a prairie chicken. The latter have a license to live this season.

Private Gerald MacLean returned home from a hunting trip in the hills with four and a half. It required a twenty dollar gun, a dollars worth of shells, a days work, and a ton of patience to secure them. Mrs. MacLean set the value on the mutt boys.

The man who steals wild ducks and the man who shoots wild cats were in trouble last week when on a shooting expedition. It was simply a case of under-feeding Tin Lizzie and economy. A five mile walk on slippery roads and the loss of several hours sleep was the penalty.

The Mission Circle and W. M. S. met at Mrs. R. Brown's for a social time on Tuesday evening. Ice cream and cake were served and matters of business and otherwise were discussed.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist church will hold a sale of work in a few weeks. Articles for sale will consist of useful and fancy goods suitable for Xmas presents.

It has been announced that a military depot is to be instituted at Calgary, for the purpose of absorbing all military units to provide reinforcements for regiments at Shorncliffe. The force will total 2054 officers and men. There will also be a depot at Winnipeg.

Two hundred and fifty dollars is the amount of the fine recently paid by E. P. of St. Paulville, who was prosecuted under the Liquor Act. Officers of the P. P. found a cache of 8000 of Scotch and a half dozen of Johnny Walker under the floor of the chicken coop on his premises.

Mr. A. W. E. Fawkes, the engineer who received the franchise for water and light recently, was in town last Saturday. He wished us to express to the ratepayers his regrets at the unavoidable delay in taking over the plant. The difficulty arose through the United States Government forbidding any money from being sent out of the country until the full war loan had been secured. This made it impossible to procure the money that had been previously arranged for in Minneapolis. Mr. Fawkes says that he is now negotiating for the necessary funds in Canada and expects to move to Claresholm to commence operations in the near future.

The threshers, at the meeting held last Saturday, decided to charge 10c for threshing wheat and 8c for oats. The farmers will appreciate this decision as rumors were rife that the price was likely to be considerably higher. As attempts are to be made to avoid the waste of feed that is a common practice at threshing time. Farmers are asked to provide proper rations for the horses and to see that there is no waste. Any horse will do on three gallons of oats and four shovels a day. Farmers should also see that the racks used by the threshers are kept clean and that the racks are not off before leaving the farm. It is a patriotic duty to see that waste is eliminated entirely.

MITCHELL SIXES

The Car We Chose
---And WhyWith 31 Extra Features---24^{Per} Cent. Added Luxury---100^{Per} Cent. Over-Strength

We have chosen the Mitchell among all cars in its class, after months of investigation. As motor car dealers we have staked our future on it.

The extra values make this car resistless. It makes other cars seem incomplete. The man who knows what we know is bound to choose this car. Please come and see the hundred ways in which Mitchells are distinct.

Why It Dominates

You hear the Mitchell everywhere discussed. The sales double every year. The factory now covers 45 acres, yet there never are Mitchells enough. Let us show you why.

There are 31 features which nearly all cars omit. Things like a power tire pump, dashboard engine primer, reversible headlights, ball-bearing steering gear.

There is superlative luxury. The makers of this year added 24 per cent. to the cost of finish, upholstery and beauty. The Mitchell is by far the handsomest car in its class.

There are handles for entering, a light in the tonneau, locked compartment for valuables. There is platted upholstery of rare-grade leather, and very deep cushion springs. There are cantilever rear springs—52 inches long—so the car rides like an aeroplane.

Lifetime Endurance

Every important part in Mitchells has 100 per cent. over-strength. That is twice the usual margin of safety. There are over 440 parts built of toughened steel. There are driving parts of Chrome-Vanadium.

There are springs which have never been broken.

We know of two Mitchell cars that have already been run over 200,000 miles each—or 40 years of ordinary service. So this over-strength, in all probability, means a lifetime car.

These extra values will cost $4,000,000 on this year's Mitchell output. Just for extra features, added beauty and over-strength, beyond most like-class cars.

Exclusive Styles

Then there are eight new style bodies, all exclusive to the Mitchell. All are designed by Mitchell artists and built in Mitchell shops.

Before designing this new line, Mitchell experts examined 257 new models. So the Mitchells combine every known attraction. You have never seen so many beauties in a single car.

Due to John W. Bate

All these extra values are paid for by factory savings. They are due to John W. Bate, the famous efficient expert. He built and equipped this model plant to build this one type economically. He has spent years of effort and millions of dollars to cut the factory cost in two.

In an ordinary factory, cars like these would be impossible at the Mitchell prices.

TWO SIZES—EIGHT STYLES

The Mitchell line includes two sizes and eight body styles. It offers everything the line car-buyer wants. It offers more than any other line of Sixes.

Come and see the new styles, just brought in. See how they differ from other cars in a hundred ways. We promise you an interesting hour.

TWO SIZES

Mitchell—A roomy 7 passenger Six, with 127 inch wheelbase and a highly-developed 48-horse-power motor.

$1525

4-Passenger Roadster, $1500. Sedan, $2240—Cabriolet, $1900—Coupee, $2060. Also Town Car and Limousine.

Do You Know

What do you think when you hear the word CHAU PAQUAT?

Do you know that the Chantanooga movement is directly fostered and supported by more personally interested business and professional men than any other world movement, other educational, social or political?

Do you know that Chantanooga is annually attended by more people than League Baseball?

Do you know that Chantanooga brings the world's greatest scientists, authors, lecturers, statesmen, musicians and entertainers to the doors of the Bank Chambers?

Do you know that Chantanooga people are practically shut out of the schools in everything pertaining to the grade for, except sports. Peter Campbell, of the Balquhider School?

Do you know what?

The Chantanooga is coming to Claresholm. Look out for the date.
